Mark McMullen

Oregon State Economist, Office of Economic Analysis

In 2012 Mark McMullen was named Oregon's State Economist by Governor Kitzhaber. Mark has and does bring a wealth of experience to the position which the office benefits from. Prior to his role as Oregon's State Economist, he served as the state's chief revenue forecaster, and prior to that Mark served as the director of consulting for Moody's Analytics and was a researcher at both the Congressional Budget Office and the Center for International Comparisons.

He continues to advise Oregon's government by preparing and delivering the state's economic and revenue forecasts every quarter to the state legislature.
